Convenient Annual Coverage of International Case Law together with Articles on Theory and Practice

The Global Community, Yearbook of International Law and Jurisprudence focuses on a new reality: the gradual transformation of the international community and the structuring process of a global community in which a coherent legal system for a universal human society is being built. It provides complete annual coverage of international case law together with articles on international legal theory, plus a collection of concise practice-oriented articles on recent developments in international law.

International Case Law

The Yearbook catalogues and highlights the annual developments in international law in a convenient, easy-to-use volume. It offers complete coverage of the case law of the major international courts and tribunals presented in the forms of legal maxims, plus the summary of their activities.

Courts and Tribunals Covered Include:
- International Court of Justice
- International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea
- WTO Dispute Settlement Body
- International Criminal Court
- International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia
- International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda

Each case includes the following information:
- The full title of the case and the parties involved;
- The type of decision, the date, and the original language;
- Reference to the official publication of the decisions in print and online.

Legal Maxims Provide Convenient Point of Law Access

Legal maxims give researchers quick access to the point of law in each case, and are logically arranged to represent an accurate overall reading of the decision. The maxims combine summaries and extracts in a format specifically designed for rapid reference.

Introductory Notes Summarize Annual Activities

An introductory note on each international tribunal or court provides a synopsis of their activity over the course of the year.

Systematic Classification Scheme

Legal maxims are collected according to the “Systematic classification scheme”. This scheme has two parts, dealing respectively with substantive and procedural international law. Each of these parts is further divided into headings and sub-headings.

In Focus

A section exploring the globalization of politics, communication, economics, culture, and the environment, while identifying objectives, programmes, models, public policy choices and emerging global policies.

Theoretical Articles

Doctrinal articles on international legal theory are provided to allow users to monitor, from more than one angle, the most significant transformation in the world constitutive structure. Articles discussing international case law are included, plus select contributions on the development of the international legal order and the building of the global legal community heralded at the end of the second millennium.

Notes and Comments

Events of relevance to the international legal scholar are reported and briefly discussed by one or more authors. In line with the Yearbook’s orientation, comments touching on international case law are given precedence.

Forum

A section aiming to present an annual overview of the process of jurisprudential cross-fertilization between the courts.

Recent Lines of Internationalist Thought

An overview and a critical appraisal of the current international law literature providing readers with an opportunity to view arguments from different perspectives, to examine different methodologies and to explore ideas drawn from the cultural diversity. This would certainly allow to understand the relevance of internationalist thought on the subject of the globalization.
