

TABLE OF CONTENTS

| | |
|----------------------|------|
| Abbreviations | XI |
| Preface | XIII |

FUNDAMENTAL VALUES, PRINCIPLES, AND RIGHTS AFTER THE TREATY OF LISBON: THE LONG JOURNEY TOWARD A EU SYSTEM by Lucia Serena Rossi

| | |
|---|----|
| 1. Abundance and overlap | 1 |
| 2. Fundamental values | 1 |
| 3. Fundamental principles | 3 |
| 4. Fundamental rights between the EU treaties and the Charter | 5 |
| 5. From functionalism to constitutional identity | 7 |
| 6. Challenges and shortcomings: is the EU Model exportable? | 10 |

THE FUNDAMENTAL VALUES BEHIND THE EUROPEAN CONVENTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS by Vladimiro Zagrebelsky

| | |
|--|----|
| 1. The origin of the European system for the protection of Human Rights | 13 |
| 2. The European common heritage in the Preamble of the ECHR | 15 |
| 3. An historical overview | 16 |
| 4. The individual is the bearer of fundamental rights and the government's powers are limited | 18 |
| 5. Conclusion | 19 |

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES FOR ACHIEVING INTERNATIONAL HUMAN-RIGHTS STANDARDS IN CHINA by Sun Pinghua

| | |
|---|----|
| 1. Preliminary remarks | 21 |
| 2. Integrating the universality of human rights with country-specific situations | 22 |
| 3. Giving priority to the right to subsistence and the right to development | 24 |
| 4. Recognizing human rights for all members of society | 27 |
| 5. Realizing the goal of all-around development of human rights | 28 |
| 6. Balancing rights and obligations in promoting the development of human rights | 30 |
| 7. Human rights and social stability, economic development, and the legal construction | 31 |
| 8. Human rights as an essentially domestic affair of a sovereign state | 33 |

| | |
|---|----|
| 9. Promoting the international human-rights cause through talks and cooperation | 34 |
| 10. Human rights-education as a basic measure in promoting human rights | 36 |
| 11. Peace, development, and human rights contributing to a harmonious world | 37 |
| 12. Closing remarks | 39 |

THE LEGAL SYSTEM FOR PROTECTING FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS
IN CHINA AND THE JUDICIAL REMEDIES AND PROBLEMS
REFLECTED IN PRACTICE: A COMPARATIVE APPROACH AND A COMMENT ON THE UNDERLYING VALUE
by Xiumei Wang

| | |
|--|----|
| 1. The legal system for protecting human rights in China in comparison with Europe | 41 |
| 1.1. The domestic legal system for protecting human rights | 41 |
| 1.2. The international legal system for protecting human rights and the remedies it provides | 42 |
| 1.3. Regional human-rights protection systems in comparison with Europe | 43 |
| 1.4. Progress and reform in the legal system with respect to the protection of human rights | 43 |
| 2. Judicial remedies for protecting human rights: taking criminal procedure as an example | 47 |
| 2.1. The two-tier trial system | 47 |
| 2.2. The death penalty re-examined | 48 |
| 2.3. Appeal and retrial | 48 |
| 3. The “Letters and Visits” system: a remedy system with Chinese characteristics | 49 |
| 3.1. The setting up of the “Letters and Visits” system and its aim | 49 |
| 3.2. Skipping to appeal: maintaining the stability of local governments | 49 |
| 3.3. The courts and the “Letters and Visits” system | 49 |
| 4. Some problems exemplified in typical cases in the enforcement of the law | 50 |
| 4.1. Torture as exemplified in some typical cases | 50 |
| 4.2. An analysis of the connection between torture and the principle “Homicides must be solved” | 52 |
| 4.3. The right to an attorney | 53 |
| 5. On the value underlying the protection of human rights | 53 |
| 5.1. The value in the European Union as exemplified in the Kadi case | 53 |
| 5.2. Protecting human rights is the main value underlying the constitutional articles and other laws | 54 |
| 5.3. Some scholars’ view on human rights in China | 54 |
| 6. Conclusion | 56 |

THE INDIVIDUAL'S RIGHTS
IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE IN CHINA
by Yuguan Yang

| | |
|--|----|
| 1. Introduction | 57 |
| 2. The right to the presumption of innocence | 58 |
| 3. The right to be heard by an independent court | 59 |
| 4. The right to counsel | 61 |
| 5. The right to silence | 61 |
| 6. Steps for improving individual rights in criminal justice | 62 |

THE DEFENDANTS' LANGUAGE RIGHTS
IN COURTROOM TRIALS IN CHINA
by Li Li

| | |
|---|----|
| 1. Preliminary remarks | 67 |
| 2. The vulnerable position of the defendant's language rights | 68 |
| 3. The influence of legal jargon on the defendant's language rights | 68 |
| 4. Safeguards for the defendant's language rights during trial | 69 |
| 4.1. Protecting the defendant's right to receive language assistance | 69 |
| 4.2. The assistance of a lawyer would safeguard the defendant's language rights | 70 |
| 4.3. Ensuring the defendant's language right to confrontation | 71 |
| 5. The relationship between language rights and the right to silence | 72 |
| 6. The right to present a final statement | 74 |
| 7. Steps for improving the defendant's language rights | 75 |
| 7.1. Notification: a prerequisite for the defendant's language rights | 75 |
| 7.2. Effective defense: a safeguard for the defendant's language rights | 75 |
| 7.3. An impartial tribunal: the core of the defendant's language rights | 76 |
| 8. Conclusion | 76 |

PROCEDURAL RIGHTS
AND THE EUROPEAN COURT OF JUSTICE
by Marco Borraccetti

| | |
|--|----|
| 1. Introduction | 79 |
| 2. Article 47 in the case law of the European Court of Justice | 80 |
| 2.1. The right to effective judicial protection | 81 |
| 2.2. The right to a fair trial | 84 |
| 2.3. The right to a hearing within a reasonable time | 85 |
| 2.4. The right of defense and the right to be heard | 88 |
| 2.4.1. The right of defense and the use of language | 90 |
| 3. Future perspectives arising from the Reform Treaty | 90 |

FOREIGNERS' RIGHTS IN CHINA WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF CHINESE CITIZENSHIP RIGHTS

by Han Yu

| | |
|--|-----|
| 1. General introduction to citizenship rights in China | 93 |
| 1.1. Who is a citizen in China? | 93 |
| 2. Protection of foreigners' rights | 94 |
| 2.1. Legislation | 94 |
| 2.2. Improvement and restriction of foreigners' rights | 95 |
| 2.3. The permanent residence system | 100 |
| 3. Conclusion | 102 |

CITIZENSHIP, THIRD-COUNTRY NATIONALS, AND EUROPEAN INTEGRATION (A BROKEN DREAM?)

by Giovanni Zaccaroni

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. Introduction | 103 |
| 2. How the trouble began: Chen and Zambrano | 105 |
| 3. McCarthy and the concept of legal citizenship | 107 |
| 4. McCarthy II and III: Dereci and Ziolkowski | 108 |
| 5. Economic versus political integration: a missed opportunity? | 109 |
| 6. Enforcing family-reunification rights in Europe: is the EU in compliance with the ECHR? | 110 |
| 7. Integration, judicial activism, and fundamental rights: kiss up, kick down? | 114 |

AUTONOMY OF RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS
IN THE EUROPEAN CONVENTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE EUROPEAN UNION

by Mauro Gatti

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. Introduction | 117 |
| 2. Autonomy of the internal management of religious organizations | 119 |
| 2.1. The balancing approach | 119 |
| 2.2. The balancing approach under siege? | 121 |
| 3. The doctrinal autonomy of religious organizations | 123 |
| 3.1. Defining religion or belief | 123 |
| 3.2. Defining the manifestation of religion or belief | 125 |
| 3.3. Assessing the legitimacy of beliefs | 126 |
| 4. Conclusion | 130 |

FREEDOM OF RELIGION IN CHINA

by Li Xue

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. General introduction to religions in China | 133 |
|---|-----|

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1.1. Five main religions in China | 134 |
| 1.2. Religious organizations | 135 |
| 1.3. Religion policy in China | 135 |
| 2. Legal protections of the right to freedom of religion in China | 136 |
| 2.1. Legislation on religious freedom | 136 |
| 2.2. Specific rights concerning freedom of religion | 139 |
| 2.3. The imperfections of religious legislation | 142 |
| 3. Limitations to the freedom of religion | 142 |
| 4. Protection of the right to freedom of religious belief for ethnic minorities | 143 |
| 5. Conclusion | 144 |

THE PROTECTION OF PRIVATE PROPERTY IN CHINA

by Wu Lan

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. Introduction | 145 |
| 2. A brief overview of private property rights in China: 1949–2012 | 145 |
| 3. The legal framework for protecting private property | 147 |
| 3.1. The scope of private property | 147 |
| 3.2. The construction of the legal framework | 147 |
| 3.3. Private property in the Constitution | 148 |
| 3.4. The Protection provided by the laws | 148 |
| 3.5. Administrative and local regulations as a major component of the system | 149 |
| 4. Restriction by reason of the public interest and the “Nail House” syndrome | 150 |
| 4.1. The public interest | 150 |
| 4.2. The “Nail House” syndrome in China | 151 |
| 5. Conclusion | 153 |

THE PROTECTION OF THE RIGHT TO PROPERTY IN EUROPE

by Valeria Bonavita

| | |
|--|-----|
| 1. Introduction | 155 |
| 2. Protection of property under the ECHR regime | 156 |
| 2.1. The scope of protection | 157 |
| 2.2. Infringements of the right to property | 159 |
| 2.3. Justifications of ownership restrictions | 161 |
| 3. Protection of property under EU law: the approach of the Court of Justice | 164 |
| 3.1. The scope of protection | 167 |
| 3.2. Impairments of the right to property | 168 |
| 3.3. Justifications of impairments of the right to property | 169 |
| 3.4. The protection afforded by the Charter | 169 |
| 4. Closing remarks | 170 |

THE RIGHT TO ECONOMIC INITIATIVE
IN THE EU AND ITS LIMITATIONS:
A NEW ENGINE FOR ECONOMIC, SOCIAL AND POLITICAL INTEGRATION?
by Andrea Usai

| | |
|---|-----|
| 1. Introduction | 171 |
| 2. The scope of application of the freedom to conduct a business and its definition in the Charter | 172 |
| 2.1. The right to economic initiative as a limitation to EU competences and to Member States | 174 |
| 2.2. Limitations to the right to economic initiative | 175 |
| 2.3. Limitations in the latest developments of EU case law | 177 |
| 2.4. Are there other limitations? | 178 |
| 2.5. Should social rights be construed as limitations to the right to economic initiative? | 181 |
| 3. How the right to economic initiative could be used to foster economic, social and political integration | 183 |
| 4. Conclusion | 188 |

THE RIGHT TO ECONOMIC INITIATIVE IN CHINA
by Zhou Jie

| | |
|--|-----|
| 1. The development of the sector of private economy in China's Constitution | 189 |
| 1.1 From 1949 to 1952: private economy was encouraged and helped by the government | 189 |
| 1.2. From 1952 to 1956: private economy was gradually restricted and extinguished in the socialism transition process | 189 |
| 1.3. From 1957 to 1978: private economy almost disappeared | 190 |
| 1.4. From 1978 onward: the private economy was re-recognized by the state and developed evenly | 190 |
| 2. Specific improvements regarding the right to economic initiative which have been made in Chinese law | 193 |
| 2.1. Protection of private property | 193 |
| 2.2. Recognition of the freedom to conclude contracts | 194 |
| 2.3. Decreasing standards in relation to establishing companies | 194 |
| 2.4. Limitation to authorities' power concerning administrative permissions | 194 |
| 3. Limitations to the right to economic initiative in China | 195 |
| 3.1. The principle of limitations to the right of economic initiative | 195 |
| 3.2. Specific limitations to the right to economic initiative | 196 |
| 4. Conclusion | 199 |

| | |
|-----------------------------|-----|
| List of contributors | 201 |
|-----------------------------|-----|