

SOCIETÀ ITALIANA DI DIRITTO INTERNAZIONALE E DI DIRITTO DELL'UNIONE EUROPEA

XXI SIDI-ISIL Conference

“Health Protection under International and European Law between Global and Specific Interests”

9-10 June 2016 – Parma, Italy

CALL FOR PAPERS

The XXI Annual Conference of the Italian Society of International Law and European Union Law (Società Italiana di Diritto Internazionale e di Diritto dell'Unione europea, SIDI-ISIL) will be held at the University of Parma (Italy) on 9th and 10th June 2016. The topic of the Conference will be “Health Protection under International and European Law between Global and Specific Interests”. On this occasion, SIDI-ISIL invites experts in the field to submit a contribution exploring the following themes:

- Health, environment and food safety in trade agreements negotiated by the European Union;
- Health protection and new forms of co-operation between State actors and non-State actors: questions of international responsibility;
- The impact of the action of intergovernmental organizations on the protection of health: questions of international responsibility.

Authors are invited to submit a short working paper (approx. 2000 words), in Italian, English, or French, not a mere abstract, where they present and exhaustively develop their ideas and arguments on the chosen theme.

Manuscripts, with the indication of the name, surname and affiliation of the author, must be submitted in PDF format to info@sidi-isil.org, by 20 March 2016. Authors are kindly requested to submit the final version of their paper by this deadline.

By 10 April 2016, SIDI-ISIL will notify the participating scholars of the selection outcomes. Up to three papers for each theme will be selected and published on the blog of SIDI-ISIL (www.sidi-isil.org/sidiblog), in order to feed a debate on the theme of the Conference. These papers will also be included in a booklet collecting all contributions to the Conference, which will be sent in PDF format to all participants to the Conference.

The authors of the best paper for each theme will be invited to present their contribution at the Conference and to develop it into an essay for publication in the Conference proceedings. The organizers will cover accommodation expenses of the selected speakers.