

Contents

|   |    |
|---|----|
| Foreword .....  | 3  |
| Preface.....  | 5  |
| Key treaties and soft law instruments.....  | 6  |
| 1. Introduction.....  | 11 |
| 2. Basic rationale and principles of the international water law process as consolidated in the two Conventions .....   | 13 |
| 2.1 Combining the original economic rationale of the international law process with environmental concerns .....  | 15 |
| 2.1.1 Economic versus environmental concerns in the two Conventions.....  | 17 |
| 2.1.2 Environmental concerns in the Economic Commission for Europe water process .....  | 17 |
| 2.1.3 Environmental concerns in the United Nations Watercourses Convention.....   | 19 |
| 3. The physical scope of the Conventions.....   | 21 |
| 3.1 The Economic Commission for Europe Water Convention .....   | 21 |
| 3.2 The United Nations Watercourses Convention.....   | 22 |
| 3.3 Groundwaters.....   | 24 |
| 3.3.1 The International Law Commission's draft articles on transboundary aquifers (2008) and the Economic Commission for Europe Model Provisions on Transboundary Groundwaters (2012) ..... | 26 |
| 4. Substantive principles .....   | 27 |
| 4.1 Obligation to prevent transboundary impact and significant harm .....   | 28 |
| 4.1.1 The kind of harm and the "significance threshold" covered by the obligation of prevention .....   | 30 |
| 4.1.2 The regime governing the legal consequences of a transboundary impact, significant harm and/or inequitable use .....  | 31 |
| 4.1.3 Compensation as a consequence of the occurrence of harm and a factor in the assessment of equitable utilization.....  | 34 |
| 4.1.3.1 Compensation and the "polluter pays" principle.....   | 36 |

|         |  |    |
|---------|--|----|
| 4.2     | The right of equal access to national remedies and the trend towards the internalization of liability. The Economic Commission for Europe 2003 Protocol to the Water Convention on Civil Liability and Compensation for Damage Caused by the Transboundary Effects of Industrial Accidents on Transboundary Waters ..... | 38 |
| 4.3     | The equitable and reasonable utilization and participation principle .....   | 40 |
| 4.3.1   | The Economic Commission for Europe Water Convention .....  | 41 |
| 4.3.2   | The United Nations Watercourses Convention .....   | 42 |
| 4.3.2.1 | The general principle of equitable utilization (article 5, paragraph 1) .....  | 43 |
| 4.3.2.2 | The equitable participation principle (article 5, paragraph 2) .....   | 47 |
| 4.3.2.3 | Factors relevant to the assessment of equitable utilization (article 6) .....  | 48 |
| 4.3.2.4 | The relationship between different kinds of uses (article 10) .....  | 53 |
| 4.4     | State responsibility .....   | 54 |
| 5.      | Cooperation .....  | 57 |
| 5.1     | Institutional cooperation .....  | 58 |
| 5.2     | Exchange of data and information .....   | 61 |
| 5.3     | Notification procedures concerning planned measures .....  | 63 |
| 5.3.1   | Environmental impact assessments .....   | 64 |
| 5.3.2   | Notification upon request .....  | 65 |
| 5.3.3   | Disagreement as to the potential effect of the planned measures .....  | 66 |
| 6.      | Is there a human rights dimension to the two Conventions? .....  | 67 |
| 6.1     | General remarks on international water law and the human rights dimension .....  | 67 |
| 6.2     | The United Nations Watercourses Convention .....   | 69 |
| 6.3     | The Economic Commission for Europe water law process and the 1999 Protocol on Water and Health .....   | 70 |
| 7.      | Dispute prevention and settlement .....  | 71 |

- 8. The relationship of the Conventions to each other and to other sources of international law ..... 74
  - 8.1 A treaty law perspective ..... 74
    - 8.1.1 A constructive interpretative approach to the mutually complementary rules of the two Conventions..... 74
    - 8.1.2 Safeguards in the event of conflicting rules ..... 76
      - 8.1.2.1 The relationship between the two Conventions..... 76
    - 8.1.3 The relationship between the two Conventions and other watercourse agreements ..... 77
      - 8.1.3.1 Pre-existing agreements ..... 77
      - 8.1.3.2 Future agreements..... 78
  - 8.2 A customary law process perspective ..... 80
- 9. Concluding remarks and prospects for the future ..... 82