EQUALITY AND NON-DISCRIMINATION IN THE EU

The Foundations of the EU Legal Order

Giovanni Zaccaroni

EQUALITY AND NON-DISCRIMINATION IN THE EU

Discussing the fundamental role played by the principles of equality and non-discrimination in the EU legal order, this insightful book explores the positive and negative elements that have contributed to the consolidation of the process of EU legal integration.

Providing an in-depth analysis of the three key dimensions of equality in the EU – equality as a value, equality as a principle and equality as a right – this incisive book investigates the place and scope of equality within the founding values of the EU. It does this by examining the use of the principle of equality in the case-law of the Court of Justice, as well as the rights conferred on individuals via equality in secondary legislation, and the interaction between equality in the Charter of Fundamental Rights and as a general principle of EU law.

Presenting an up-to-date analysis of the role played by equality in blending the economic and social elements of EU legal integration, Equality and Non-Discrimination in the EU will be an important read for scholars and students of EU and constitutional law, as well as practitioners and EU officials.

Giovanni Zaccaroni is a Lecturer in European and Comparative Law at the University of Malta.

Series Editor: Herwig C.H. Hofmann, Professor of European and Transnational Public Law, Faculty of Law, Economics and Finance and Robert Schuman Institute for European Affairs, University of Luxembourg

Elgar Studies in European Law and Policy is a forum for books that demonstrate cutting-edge legal and politico-legal analysis of the pertinent policies in a multi-jurisdictional Europe. The series is as relevant for academic reflection as for practical development of the matters addressed therein, such as policy relevance, its origins and the possibilities of future development. Books in the series take a multidisciplinary or multi-jurisdictional approach to the topics at their centers, with an aim to facilitating understanding of European law and policy matters and demonstrating their connectedness throughout jurisdictional levels. The series will provide coverage and analysis of various regulatory areas at the forefront of EU law and policy, including: the development of new European policy fields, issues of market regulation, economic and monetary matters and social dimensions of EU Law.

Titles in the series include:

The Metamorphosis of the European Economic Constitution
Edited by Herwig C.H. Hofmann, Katerina Pantazatou and Giovanni Zaccaroni

Citizenship in the European Union
Constitutionalism, Rights and Norms
