

Contents

Introduction	p. 1
---------------------	----------------

Competition on Digital Markets: An Introduction

Francesco Munari

1. Preliminary remarks: “real” competition issues in digital markets surpass predictive studies	7
2. The characteristics of economies of scale and of marginal and distributional costs in digital markets	9
3. Direct network effects in digital markets ...	11
4. ... and indirect ones	12
5. The multi-sided market structure of digital markets	14
6. The value of data in digital markets	16
7. Economies of scope and vertical integration	20
8. Digital competition: from tipping markets ...	23
9. ... to digital ecosystems	26
10. Conclusive doubts: faced with the limited effectiveness of “traditional” competition rules in digital markets, is a new mindset required? Will the ex ante approach provide adequate solutions?	31

Decoding Antitrust: Market Definition and Market Power within the Data Value Chain

Valeria Caforio and Laura Zoboli

1. Introduction	35
2. From market definition to market power in competition law	37
3. Market definition in the context of data	41

	p.
4. Market power in the generation and collection of data	43
5. Market power and control of data as a fundamental input of production	45
6. Market power in the markets for the commercialization of data	49
7. Conclusion	51

Non-Economic Objectives Under Article 101 TFEU: Recent Trends

María Campo Comba

1. Introduction	55
2. An overview of the EU competition law approach to non-economic objectives	60
2.1. The more-economic approach: focus on consumer welfare and economic efficiency	60
2.2. Winds of change? The “fairness mantra” of the Commission	63
3. Recent developments on Article 101 TFEU and collective labour agreements: digital platform workers’ rights	65
3.1. The Albany route, digital platform workers and the new Commission SSE Guidelines	67
3.2. Other possible paths to exempt the application of Article 101 TFEU to collective agreements of digital platform workers	72
4. Recent developments on Article 101 TFEU and sustainability objectives: sustainability agreements	74
4.1. Article 101(3) TFEU, sustainability agreements and the Revised Horizontal Guidelines	77
4.2. Other possible paths to exempt sustainability agreements from Article 101 TFEU	82
5. Conclusion	84

Applying Article 102 TFEU to Multisided Online Platforms: Discrimination, Leveraging and Undefined Abuses of Dominance

Daniel Mandrescu

1. Introduction	87
-----------------	----

Contents

IX

	p.
2. The economic context of platforms	90
3. Platform expansions and abusive market power leveraging	94
4. Platform pricing, governance, and abusive discrimination	100
5. Undefined abuses and new regulatory frameworks	110
5.1. The unexhaustive character of Article 102 TFEU	110
5.2. Abuses through infringements of alternative regulatory frameworks	112
6. Conclusion	115

Dawn of the Robots: First Cases of Algorithmic Collusion

Jan Blockx

1. Introduction	117
2. The use of algorithms in commercial decision making	119
3. Algorithms as tools for collusion	121
4. Algorithmic hub-and-spoke collusion	124
5. Autonomous algorithms	130
6. Conclusion	137

Gatekeepers and Their Special Responsibility under the Digital Markets Act

Claudio Lombardi

1. Introduction	139
2. Designation of gatekeepers	141
2.1. The concepts of gatekeeper and core platform service	143
2.2. A mix of quantitative and qualitative criteria that although focused on size make without market definition and market share	147
2.3. First designation: expected or revealed flaws?	153
3. Gatekeepers' obligations and prohibitions	154
3.1. Prohibitions	156
3.2. Obligations	158
3.3. Enforcement	160
4. Justifications	162
5. Between speed, flexibility and certainty	164
6. Conclusion	166

The Private Enforcement of Competition Law and Digital Markets: Issues of Jurisdiction and Applicable Law

Alberto Miglio

1. Introduction	167
2. Contract or tort? Characterisation of claims under EU private international law	170
3. Jurisdiction under the Brussels Ia Regulation	176
3.1. Defendant's domicile	176
3.2. Jurisdiction for contractual claims	177
3.3. Jurisdiction for tort claims	179
3.4. Multiple defendants, counterclaims, choice-of-court agreements	183
4. Applicable law	185
4.1. Law applicable to contractual obligations	185
4.2. Law applicable to non-contractual obligations	186
5. Private international law issues in the private enforcement of the Digital Markets Act	189
6. Conclusion	191

Judicial Application of Commitment Decisions: from Gasorba to the Digital Markets Act

Luca Calzolari

1. Introduction	193
2. Commitment decisions: procedural issues and key features	196
2.1. Preliminary remarks	196
2.2. The scope of application and practical diffusion	197
2.3. The selection of cases and procedural overview	199
2.4. The content of the commitments and the peculiar application of the principle of proportionality	201
3. Competition law and market regulation: the role of commitment decisions	202
3.1. Bridging the gap between antitrust and regulation: from Article 9 of Council Regulation (EC) 1/2003 ...	202
3.2. ... to the Digital Markets Act	205
4. The judicial application of commitment decisions	209

Contents

XI

p.

4.1. Conducts that occurred before the period covered by a commitment decision	210
4.2. Conducts that occurred during the period covered by a commitment decision	211
4.3. Conducts that occurred after the period covered by a commitment decision	222
5. Conclusion	229

Judicial Application of the Digital Markets Act: The Role of National Courts

Filippo Croci

1. Introduction	233
2. The “silence” on the role of national courts in the first draft of the DMA proposal	237
3. The role of national courts according to the final version of the DMA	242
3.1. The mechanisms for cooperation between national courts and the Commission	242
3.2. The applicability of Directive (EU) 2020/1828 on representative actions for the protection of the collective interests of consumers	245
3.3. The lack of specific indications about several aspects of private enforcement of the DMA before national courts	246
4. Possible features and prospects of the private enforcement of the DMA	248
5. Concluding remarks	255

Personal Data: Damages Actions between EU Competition Law and the GDPR

Chiara Cellerino

1. Introduction	257
2. The interaction between competition law and data protection law: examples from the practice	258
3. Private enforcement of EU competition law in cases of GDPR violations	263

	p.
4. GDPR: between public and private enforcement	264
5. Damages action under the GDPR: eligibility and nature of liability	265
6. Damages action under the GDPR: the nature of damage	268
7. Conclusions	272