Breve descrizione

The EU-SHIELD Module will promote excellence in teaching and research in EU legal studies, with a renewed focus on the EU's expanding role in ensuring global security. The Module aims to identify effective solutions and best practices for managing large-scale crises and worldwide emergencies, with a view to their replication across EU Member States and beyond.

To this end, the Module will deliver a high-quality, cross-sectoral, and inclusive course integrating teaching, research, and dissemination activities within an institutional legal observatory, providing specialised training for security professionals, and strengthening understanding of the EU's strategic priority of building "A stronger Europe in the world" through the projection of European interests and values globally.
Teaching activities include an annual 58-hour Jean Monnet Module (JMM) course (30–40 students/year), structured into 4 theoretical units (40h) and 3 learning-by-doing units (18h). Research and dissemination activities comprise 3 JMM events/year (roundtables, lectures, intensive workshops, and webinars) and 1 JMM international conference/year.
All JMM activities are open to national and Erasmus students, postgraduates, PhD candidates, scholars, researchers, as well as extra-academic stakeholders (including professionals, policymakers, NGOs, civil servants, the general public, and young participants), and are promoted via the project website and social media channels. Through this design, the Module supports the Erasmus+ Programme priority of 'Participation in democratic life' by strengthening citizens' understanding of the EU, and the objectives of the Jean Monnet Actions to disseminate knowledge on the EU's global role beyond academia and specialist audiences, bring the EU closer to society and reach a wider audience.
Expected outputs include a project website, open-access informational and teaching materials, a final book, legal observatory activities, and scientific publications
